

Sociology Program

Proposed Course Substitutions

In the process of revising the sociology program requirements, we have phased out courses that some students will still show as being needed, specifically Soc 200 and Soc 495W. These courses will no longer be offered. For students who have not taken these formerly required courses, we propose the following course substitutions:

FORMERLY REQUIRED/ NO LONGER OFFERED COURSE	SUBSTITUTION COURSES
SOC 200 Foundations of Sociology	Substitute with another 200-level SOC elective SOC 208 Families in Society SOC 209 Sociology of Human Sexualities SOC 214W Animals in Society
SOC 495W Senior Seminar *Note: the requirement for a W (writing intensive course) will need to be met elsewhere.	Substitute with an additional upper division methods course or workshop SOC 469 Survey Research SOC 480 Qualitative Research Methods SOC 493 Sociology in Action SOC 490 Workshop Note: Students in the Applied Sociology Emphasis MUST take 493 Sociology in Action and an Internship; therefore the 493 cannot be used as a substitute for 495W. Please choose 469, 480, or 490 Workshop(s) in addition. You may also decide to switch the General BS if necessary. Please speak with your advisor or the program coordinator, Sarah Epplen sarah.epplen@mnsu.edu for more information.
